

Alternative Committal

by Alan Litton

Leader: For billions of years this good earth has yielded its fruits and brought forth countless precious individuals who have been conscious of their existence and have added something to the world's storehouse of meaning and purpose.

N has been one such unique person who has (given you your life and) added to your values.

Now his/her mortal remains are once again to be (absorbed into the elements and) returned to the earth, yet in spirit he/she lives for ever.

Copyright notes

Alan Litton has given permission for this material to be used freely in public and adapted where desired. He retains the copyright and his permission should be sought if it is to be included in a published collection of any kind.